remembered, including the old windmill where I once hid out. The video sets a natural tone, letting witnesses talk without scripting. Crisp editing brings out the essence of their testimony. Running time is 60 minutes.

PURPOSE

For myself, I wanted to produce this video to make sense of events that occurred when I was escaping the Holocaust as a pre-teen. Reliving my rescue helped me uncover the truth hidden behind my memories.

For others, I wanted to depict what life was like for Jews who succeeded in dodging the Nazis. Many aspects of my survival parallel the experiences of Anne Frank, whose hiding place (and former residence) on the Prinsengracht in Amsterdam, is across the canal from where I lived as a child. Like Anne's diary, this video contrasts the everyday life of Jewish people in hiding with the potential devastation facing all Jews during the Holocaust.

SAMPLE SCENE

Near the start of the video, you see me walk down a long footpath toward a windmill where I once had been hidden during my escape from the Nazis. Guided by Jan Paardenkooper, who coordinated our shoot in Holland, we are hailed by an old man. He lives along the path leading to a mill, and he recalls a young boy that had been hidden at the mill during the War:

"What luck he had," the old man says. "Is he still alive?"

Jan, a bit surprised that the old

"Yes, that's me," I confirm, as the old man keeps shaking his head in disbelief.

PRODUCERS

Ron Israel, Director, Cameraman, and Editor is an independent film, video, and theater producer headquartered in Baltimore, MD

Les Bradley, Post Production Editor shaped the video into its current format, bridging elements from 16 rolls of video film. He is a retired professor of media production at Notre Dame University in Baltimore, MD.

Max Amichai Heppner, Facilitator, Script Writer, and Narrator is a professional writer and lecturer who has spoken extensively on the Holocaust, notably at the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum and the Jewish Museum of Maryland in Baltimore, which house mementos from my escape (in part shown in the video).

Natalie Sibiski, Cover Design, done as a 6-year-old artist. She has pictured my windmill hiding place, which is the theme of the video, the way I might have done it if I'd have had my art supplies with me at the time.

TO: ALL CRUISERS: PAST, PRESENT & FUTURE

On Saturday night, February 23, everyone who has gone on a TAO cruise, is planning to cruise with us in May, and who are thinking about it but have not yet made the decision, is invited to a Pre-Sail Havdallah evening event.

We will set the stage for the loving experience that makes our Spirit at Sea the incredible, loving and fun-filled weekend that it is. You will have an opportunity to talk with those who have been there and done it, see a video of last years cruise, and combine that with the sacredness of Havdallah.

So if you are contemplating joining us on the weekend cruise in May, come and feel what our Rabbis bring to our lives.

The theme of the cruise, A Spiritual Approach to Relationships: Intimacy is Not For Lovers Only, speaks to all loving relationships: couples, parents, close friends and partners.

There is still time to sign up, we have reserved extra rooms, just for you!

Join our circle of caring, spiritual souls and feel what Community is all about.

Mar 2 - Tribute to Rabbi Marc on his 40th Rabbi Marc's turning 40, and we're celebrating!

Join us at Laffing Matterz on March 2, 2008 at 4:15pm.

Last year's tribute sold out, and unfortunately, we cannot get more seats than the Fire Department allows, so make sure to register early to assure your seat.

Laffing Matterz is located at: 219 South Andrews in Ft. Lauderdale.

Rabbi Marc Labowitz was born to be a rabbi. Like his namesake, Rabbi Mordechai Rabinovitch of Baltimore, Z'l, his grandfather Rabbi Herschel Leibowitz Z'L, and his parents Rabbis Shoni and Phillip Labowitz, he brings the deepest spirit of Judaism and Torah to his life and his community.

Rabbi Marc brings his passionate expression of Judaism and his strong sense of social justice to the community. His deepest spiritual practice is to foster a world in which freedom, acceptance and love are the essence of all paths.

With his warmth and exuberance, he enhances the meaning in our lives with his personality, his depth of teaching and sharing, his love of Torah and Kaballah.

When he sings and composes music with Paulina, those melodies lead congregants in exploring their spirituality in a manner that brings balance to their lives and freedom to their spirits.

Rabbi Marc is passionate about life and Judaism. His warm and caring approach to life attracts people from all corners of the community. With the help from the Holy One, we know that he will bring the sweetness of Torah and Judaism to our world so in need of Tikkun Olam. May he continue to be a guiding light for TAO for at least another forty years.

Click here to see the sponsorship opportunities.

Click here to register now and reserve your seat.

Seating is limited to first come.

Please sponsor an Oneg.

Without your help, this delightful part of our Shabbos gathering will change its shape. Help us start our New Year off with prosperity. Thus we are told that it is a wise practice to contribute to a worthy charity before praying. What better time than sponsoring an Oneg. . . which is after praying. Please call the office to reserve your Oneg. (954-4252-1313). Oneg sponsorships available starting with the March service.
