Congas

Latin Collection

All REMO® congas are manufactured with our proprietary Acoustic® shell and are reinforced for maximum durability. A high-density rubber mold on the bottom of the drum protects the shell from impact in professional applications. Conga Guards, assembled on all tuning lugs, protects the drum from unwanted scratches. Chrome hardware, curved counterhoops and a comfortable carrying handle gives the drums a classic salsa look. All congas are equipped with either Fiberskyn® 3 or Nuskyn® REMO® Type 7 tucked drumheads, which are durable and easy to play. Crown Percussion Congas feature Tucked FIBERSKYN®3 drumhead, comes with Black-Powder coated curved counterhoops, and is constructed with Aged Siam Oak Wood.

Middle Eastern Collection

Doumbek

The doumbek plays a central role in both popular and classical Middle-Eastern music and is often heard in ensembles with the riq and tar. The name of the instrument derives from its distinctive sound; "doum" (low sound) produced by striking the drum in the middle of the head, and "tek" (high sound) produced by striking the drum at the edge of the head. Equipped with a Renaissance® drumhead.

Bodhrans

The bodhran is the historic drum of Ireland and is the primary rhythmic accompaniment for the folk music of the Emerald Isle. A large frame drum with a cross bar in the back, it is typically low pitched and is played with a double headed wooden mallet called the cipin.

Brian Howard Signature Series Bodhrans have a specially designed, internally tuned head capable of producing the drums' characteristically warm, low bass tones.

The Glen Velez models feature a very high pitch, pre-tuned Fiberskyn® head and are available in a natural or red finished Acousticon® shell.

Alessandra Belloni Tambourines and Frame Drum

Pizzica: Another pre-tuned, medium-low pitch tambourine designed with fiery performer Alessandra Belloni. This beige tambourine features white & red ribbons and 11 sets of double row jingles.

Tamburello: Pre-tuned, medium-low pitch with seven single rows of jingles and red body with white ribbons.

Tammorra Neapoletana: This low-pitched, pre-tuned tambourine features red & yellow ribbons on a blue body with seven double rows of extra large jingles.

The "Black Madonna" tambourine produces a unique combination of the deep, vibrant Sicilian style tammorra coupled with the vibrant sound of its nine sets of jingles. The image on the head is a striking representation of the Spanish Black Madonna of Monserrat. The Yemanja frame drum has a deep full sound of a gentle sea, which is made possible with a REMO® Pocket Shake that's attached to the underside of the drum itself. The Pocket Shake can be easily removed and played separately.

Asian Collection

Taiko drums are arguably the largest drums in regular use today, and have been an important part of almost every aspect of Japanese culture, from religious and social settings, to Kabuki and Noh drama. Their powerful sound has inspired the Western world as well, as touring groups have brought the energetic and inspirational music of taiko drumming to communities all around the globe. REMO® Taiko follow the authentic Japanese designs; from the barrel-shaped Nagado Daiko to the Shime Daiko with its shaped shell that is contoured both inside and out. REMO®'s Taiko drums feature Acousticon® shells, durable finishes, and heads that can be changed in minutes instead of days.

Klong Yao

Native to Thailand, Klong Yao's unique shape and sound add an authentic character to the religious music heard in Buddhist temples. Although they are traditionally pitched very low, REMO® Klong Yao drumheads come with highpitched basic tuning and a rope tension system which gives them an even more unique and mysterious sound.

Buffalo Drums

The REMO® Buffalo Drums have been inspired by the indigenous cultures of the Americas. They come with a rope suspension handle, mallet, and a choice of graphic or plain heads that can be self-decorated. All REMO® Buffalo drums are manufactured with Fiberskyn® 3 drumheads and Acousticon® drum shells, which produce the same tonal characteristics found on traditional wood shell drums. ## Rhythm Tools

The Rhythm Tools® Cuica is played in the same manner as the Brazilian Cuica. The Cuica (KWEEEE-ah) sound is produced when a damp cloth is rubbed along the bamboo stick.

Durable and easy to use, the Click-Clack features traditional 3-piece Brazilian pandeiro jingles for a bright staccato sound. Played singly or in pairs.

The Spring Shape comes with a wooden beater, and may be used to create all sorts of rhythms. Or just shake it and see what happens!

The Timpano comes with a wooden beater and can be played in the manner of a cow-bell. Create rhythmic patterns combining Cuban and Brazilian flavors, or invent your own rhythms.

A single snare gives the Rhythm Tools Bendir its characteristic buzzing sound, just like its cousin the North African bendir. Its compact design is durable and portable.
